

Meet The Artist

Sally Courage's unique coil pots demonstrate her passion for form, with organic shapes, often quite large, reflecting elements of wild fowl.

Helen Williams hand builds sculptural forms in clay, sometimes from life, while others are based on mythical creatures.

Jo Arkell produces thrown stoneware and porcelain vessels, which she fires in a self-made gas kiln.

Jane Fullman takes a new twist on an old craft by applying traditional bobbin lace skills to brightly coloured strands of copper wire, designing unique, intricate pieces of contemporary jewellery

Julie Smith uses Computer Aided Design to create abstracted images of leaves, trees and other natural forms. These are printed onto transfers and used as background layers for her richly coloured glass

Pearl Hailstone's paintings capture the dramatic atmosphere of coast and countryside in oils and acrylic as the light and colours change through the seasons.
